Catch Me Reading This Christmas Competition!

Can you find an unusual place to read?

Please take a photograph of yourself reading in an unusual place!

You can print off the image or you can email it to parentenquiry@marshgreen.bardaglea.org.uk

The child reading in the most unusual place in each class will win a prize!

Parents: Our weekly expectation for reading at home is: 15 minutes of reading each day. Please sign and write a reading comment in your child's diary each time you hear them read.

Here are some examples of your teachers reading in unusual places!

Can you create a character analysis of your favourite character and draw an image below? 	What was your favourite part in your book and why?	Would you recommend the book and why? How many stars would you give out of 10?
Plan and create your own story that is similar to the one you have just read. Remember stories should have a chronological sequence.	What didn't you like about the story and why? 	Can you make your favourite scene out of junk modelling?
If you could be one of the characters, which one would you be and why?	Draw your favourite part of the book and explain why it is your favourite. 	Can you summarise the story you have read into 200 words?

Additional reading homework is outlined above in a bingo format. You have the option to complete ALL tasks or complete a minimum of two this holiday, but one of them MUST be a writing task.

Please complete them by Thursday 5th January 2023. You may cross off the activities as you complete them.

Have fun completing the activities!
