1. Aims of PSHE Policy

With our children and young people living in an ever changing online and offline world, facing increasing opportunities and more complex challenges, it has never been more important for us to equip our pupils with a strong foundation of the knowledge, attitudes and skills needed to manage their lives as engaged, respectful, healthy, happy, responsible and successful members of society.

We will achieve this through our PSHE aims to support our young people to:

- become confident individuals who know and understand how to live safe, happy, healthy, fulfilling lives.
- understand the importance of self-respect and self-worth, knowing the importance of personal attributes such as honesty, integrity, courage, humility, kindness, generosity, trustworthiness and a sense of justice.
- nurture mutual respect, treating others equally through an appreciation for diversity and respect of others.
- learn how to build and maintain safe, positive, respectful, kind and healthy relationships, including being able to identify risks and harms, within friendships both in person and online and relationships within the family.
- understand the importance of taking responsibility for one's own health and wellbeing, knowing links and differences between mental and physical health, and using self-care strategies for both
- understand about consent in all relationships, including resisting pressure and/or not applying pressure through respect for others' boundaries
- use critical thinking skills to understand and analyse information and keep themselves safer in digital and physical spaces
- develop confidence in decision making, understanding consequences, acting on informed choices
- address concerns, including protecting themselves by asking for help and knowing where and how to get confidential advice and support
- develop financial capabilities and money management skills, including managing financial harms and risks, to achieve economic wellbeing

- understand about becoming responsible citizens who have rights and responsibilities that help them make a positive contribution to society, including in their careers and other future opportunities.
- enjoy successes in their own progress, identifying and achieving academic and personal goals that enable them to thrive in all areas of their lives.

2. Purpose of PSHE Policy

This policy has been written to give clear guidance to staff, outside visitors, parent and carers, and pupils about our PSHE programme including:

- our overall intention and aims for delivering PSHE, including Relationships, Sex and Health Education
- our definitions for Relationships Education, Sex Education and Health Education
- guidance for staff and outside visitors about the implementation of PSHE, including content, organisation and principles that guide safe and effective delivery
- information for parents/carers about our full PSHE programme, including specific information on Sex Education, our annual parental engagement procedures and parents' right to withdraw their child from sex education
- our commitment to supporting a skilled delivery team through CPD opportunities
- how we monitor, evaluate and assess PSHE including arrangements for policy review

3. PSHE Policy Development

This policy has been developed by school governors, senior leadership team and PSHE Subject Lead, in line with the latest DfE statutory and non-statutory guidance. It has been informed by feedback gathered from school and community stakeholders, including pupils, parents/carers and wider partners (see sections 7.5 and 8.3).

4. Legislation and Guidance

From September 2026 it will be mandatory for all schools to follow the updated DfE Statutory Relationships Education, Relationships and Sex Education \(RSE\) and Health Education Guidance (DfE, July 2025), made under sections 34 and 35 of the Children and Social Work Act 2017. Schools can adopt this early from Sept 2025.

This guidance makes Relationships Education compulsory for all primary pupils, and Health Education compulsory for all primary pupils other than for those in Independent schools where PSHE is already statutory.

Our PSHE policy complies with these requirements and recommendations to deliver statutory Relationships and Health Education, as outlined and delivered through our PSHE curriculum.

In addition to statutory requirements, the DfE continues to recommend that all primary schools should have a Sex Education programme tailored to the age and the physical and emotional maturity of the pupils.

We are fully complying with the DfE recommendation to deliver Sex Education beyond statutory Relationships, Science and Health Education requirements. See section 8 for further information specific to Sex Education.

5. Links to Other Policies

PSHE sits within our whole school approach to supporting pupils' overall personal development, including their relationships, behaviour and overall safety, health and wellbeing. Within this context, it is important to read this PSHE policy with the following related school policies:

- Safeguarding/Child Protection Policy
- Behaviour/Anti-Bullying Policy
- Online Safety Policy
- Equality, Diversity and Inclusion Policy
- SEND Information Report
- Managing Drug Related Incidents Statement

6. Definitions for Relationships Education and Health Education

Relationships Education:

"Relationships Education enables the physical, cultural, social and emotional development of pupils. It provides young people with the knowledge, skills, attitudes and positive values to have happy, healthy and safe relationships, to have an understanding of the legal aspects of human relationships and to develop an understanding of tolerance and diversity, now and in the future".

Health Education:

"Health Education is learning about the characteristics of good physical health and mental wellbeing and the equally important role that each of these play in our everyday lives. It explores the important role that physical health has on our mental health and vice versa. Health Education supports our young people to understand about health related choices and behaviours, both mentally and physically, and take responsibility for their own in order to be happy, healthy and safe, now and in the future"

7. Implementation of PSHE

7.1 Organisation of PSHE

All teaching staff deliver weekly 50-minute PSHE lessons to every year group across the school. These lessons are enhanced through a wide range of planned enrichment opportunities that bring learning to life and reinforce key PSHE themes.

One of these is our annual Aspirations Day, where children come dressed as their dream careers to inspire ambition and encourage them to think positively about their future goals. Our PSHE and Wellbeing Leads deliver assemblies and facilitate discussions about aspirations and future pathways, while photographs and videos capture and celebrate the excitement of the day. The event is also featured in the school newsletter, allowing us to share the children's experiences with our wider school community.

At the beginning of each academic year, we also hold Make a Difference Week (Rights Respecting Week), during which each day focuses on a different theme: Safety, Global Citizenship, Diversity, Health, and Identity. Every year group explores these themes through age-appropriate learning, with different aspects revisited and built upon across the school. These themes are further embedded throughout the wider curriculum, including English, Geography, Religious Education, and other subject areas, ensuring that PSHE and wellbeing are integrated into everyday learning.

Following the success of the inaugural event in 2026, our Umoja Exhibition is now held annually. The exhibition celebrates diversity, identity, belonging, and community, providing children with opportunities to showcase their learning and engage with families and the wider school community. This event further enriches our PSHE curriculum by promoting respect, inclusion, and cultural understanding. Examples of the exhibition can be viewed here:

Our PSHE provision is supported by a wide range of internal and external professionals to ensure that all pupils receive appropriate guidance, intervention, and support. Through our SEND Assess–Plan–Do–Review (APDR) process, we work closely with a range of agencies, including the Child Development Team, BDSIP Inclusion Advisors, Community Paediatricians and Consultants, Community Nursing Teams from Queen's Hospital and Great Ormond Street Hospital (GOSH), and The Heathway Centre for Children with Additional Needs. We also collaborate with Young Carers, Children's Services, Family Support through Early Help Assessments, Hidden Harm (a drugs and alcohol advisory service), Future Youth Zone, and the NSPCC. Where appropriate, external professionals and health specialists, including our School Nursing Service and NHS dental professionals, contribute to the planning and delivery of PSHE sessions. These partnerships provide pupils with expert knowledge, advice, and support on a range of topics, including physical and mental health, healthy lifestyles, oral health, personal safety, relationships, and overall wellbeing, helping to enrich our PSHE curriculum and promote positive outcomes for all children.

We deliver the vast majority of PSHE through whole class lessons, within which we may run smaller, targeted groups or occasional 1:1 sessions, in response to identified needs of specific pupils. We may occasionally deliver in same sex groupings, for example when exploring specific or sensitive issues such as puberty or gender stereotypes, although this is followed up with whole class learning, to ensure that pupils also have the opportunity to engage with everybody's ideas, experiences and understanding.

We organise and deliver all statutory Relationships Education and Health Education content, alongside carefully selected non-statutory PSHE learning, through the Life Lessons PSHE Scheme. The scheme is fully aligned with the Department for Education statutory guidance and the PSHE Association Programme of Study, ensuring a broad, balanced, progressive, and age-appropriate curriculum. It enables pupils to develop the knowledge, skills, and attributes needed to stay healthy, safe, and prepared for life, while supporting their personal development, wellbeing, and future aspirations.

See our website for our PSHE Education Curriculum Overviews TBC

7.2 Statutory content

Relationships Education (KS 1 & 2: age 5-11 years)

- Families and People who Care for Me
- Caring Friendships
- Respectful, Kind Relationships
- Online Safety and Awareness
- Being Safe

Health and Wellbeing Education (KS1&2: age 5-11 years)

- General Wellbeing
- Wellbeing Online
- Physical Health and Fitness
- Healthy Eating
- Drugs, Alcohol, Tobacco and Vaping
- Health Protection and Prevention
- Personal Safety
- Basic First Aid
- Developing Bodies (including puberty and naming correct body parts)

Science Curriculum (statutory content related to Relationships and Sex Education)

Key Stage 1 (age 5-7 years)

- Identify, name, draw and label the basic parts of the human body and say which part of the body is associated with each sense
- Notice that animals, including humans, have offspring which grow into adults
- Describe the importance for humans of exercise, eating the right amounts of different types of food, and hygiene

Key Stage 2 (age 7-11 years)

- Describe the life process of reproduction in some plants and animals
- Describe the changes as humans develop to old age
- Recognise that living things produce offspring of the same kind, but normally offspring vary and are not identical to their parents/carers

- recognise the impact of diet, exercise, drugs and lifestyle on the way their bodies function

7.3 Non-Statutory Content: (KS1&2: age 5-11 years)

- Economic Wellbeing – beyond compulsory content included in the statutory relationships and health education including financial wellbeing online, identifying and managing financial safety, harms, scams, risks etc.
- Careers

Non-statutory Sex Education

Based on the Life Lessons PSHE Scheme, pupils in Year 6 receive one optional lesson on conception (sexual reproduction). This lesson enables pupils to understand what sexual reproduction is and that starting a family can be an exciting part of a loving adult relationship and a significant lifelong commitment. It is taught in an age-appropriate, factual, and sensitive manner to help prepare pupils for adulthood. Parents have the right to request that their child be withdrawn from this non-statutory sex education lesson.

 This is the only content that parents/carers can withdraw from – see section 8*

7.4

Cross curricular links

Through identified cross curricular links with relevant subjects, including RE, Science, DT, Computing, PE, we further complement, reinforce and extend our pupils' PSHE learning through related contexts, being clear not to duplicate or repeat any learning.

7.5

Adaptations to the PSHE Curriculum

The organisation of our PSHE curriculum is flexible where needed, allowing us to respond to the feedback gathered by school and community stakeholders, alongside emerging concerns, relevant local health information, data such as from the local SHEU survey, community issues, and/or news related events.

We regularly engage our pupils, parents/carers and wider stakeholders in the review and development of our PSHE curriculum, as follows:

- Pupil engagement – annual surveys, focus groups, subject reviews, PSHE/Circle time discussions
- Parental engagement – annual RSE information provided during parent evenings
- Community partners – partner discussions local/national data provided by partner organisations

For the 2025–26 academic year, we have adopted the latest updates within the Life Lessons PSHE Scheme, strengthening our curriculum to reflect current issues affecting children and young people.

The updated curriculum includes the introduction of new teaching on menstruation in Year 3, ensuring pupils develop age-appropriate knowledge and understanding of body changes before puberty. In Year 4, a new core lesson on gaming and money online has been introduced to strengthen pupils' understanding of online financial safety, digital decision-making and responsible use of technology.

In Year 6, the curriculum has been further enhanced with updated and additional lessons focusing on financial wellbeing and preparation for adulthood. These include an updated lesson on protecting money, helping pupils recognise scams and make informed financial decisions, alongside new greater depth lessons exploring what we need to have a good life and how to manage money day-to-day. These developments ensure that pupils are equipped with the knowledge, skills and confidence to make safe, informed and responsible choices both now and in the future.

Through regular curriculum review, consultation and evaluation, we ensure our PSHE programme remains progressive, inclusive and responsive to emerging local and national priorities, enabling all pupils to develop the knowledge, skills and attributes needed to thrive in modern Britain.

8. Issues Specific to Sex Education

8.1 Definition for Sex Education

Sex Education is lifelong learning about the physical, social and emotional aspects of human sexuality, including skills, attitudes and information on topics like reproduction (conception and birth), relationships, and identity. Sex Education aims to equip young people with the knowledge, skills, and values to have safe, fulfilling, and responsible relationships and to take responsibility for their own health and wellbeing.

8.2 DfE Recommendation for Sex Education

Although sex education is not statutory in primary schools, we follow the Department for Education's recommendation to provide age-appropriate sex education in Year 6. As part of our PSHE curriculum, pupils receive one standalone lesson on sexual reproduction (conception), including how a baby is conceived and develops before birth. This lesson is taught in a factual, sensitive and age-appropriate manner to support pupils' understanding and preparation for secondary education. Parents have the right to request that their child be withdrawn from this non-statutory lesson.

We feel this non-statutory content is important to address many of the questions that children have and are taught in the context of healthy adult relationships, complementing the factual description of human reproduction and conception covered in statutory science, and sitting alongside statutory Relationships and Health Education including content on puberty and changing bodies.

8.3 Engaging with Parents/Carers

On entry to the school, parents/carers are invited to read our PSHE policy, including our approach to Sex Education. We place the utmost importance on sharing equal and joint responsibility with parents/carers for their children's education, including sexual matters, and as such we prioritise open and transparent engagement, keeping all parents/carers fully informed of the content and delivery of our PSHE curriculum, reinforcing this dual responsibility for PSHE learning.

We do our best to find out any religious or cultural views parents/carers may have, which may affect the Sex Education they wish to be given to their children. We always carefully consider any request that compromises our Equality, Diversity and Inclusion policy.

We take every opportunity to inform and involve parents/carers, providing transparency of the content and delivery of our relationships, sex and health education, in the following ways :

1. By communicating our commitment to parents through regular school communications, including email.
2. Beyond the annual meeting, parents/carers can request to see planning and curriculum resources used in the teaching of sex education at any time.
3. In response to emerging and/or local issues, we may need to respond by introducing additional content into the PSHE curriculum, for example the sharing of nude images, or pornography. In all cases, we will ensure to update parents and enable them to support the learning at home.

8.4 Parental Right to Withdraw from Sex Education

Parents/carers have the right to withdraw their child from non-statutory Sex Education, but not the right to withdraw their child from any lessons in statutory Science, Relationships Education or and Health Education, (see Section 8 for Statutory and Non-Statutory content).

In accordance with this, it is made clear to parents/carers of Year 6 children that they can withdraw their child from the non-statutory lesson on conception (sexual reproduction) and no other lessons.

If a parent wishes to withdraw their child from this non-statutory Sex Education we ask that they discuss it with the Head Teacher and they can ask for a copy of the school's 'Request for Withdrawal from Sex Education Lessons' form - this is available from the Head Teacher.

To confirm, statutory Relationships Education does not involve explaining the detail of different forms of sexual activity, but can cover sensitive topics such as sexual violence, in order to keep children safe. Equally, statutory Health Education includes content on puberty, changing adolescent bodies and labelling of all main body parts.

8.5 Supporting Pupils Withdrawn from Sex Education

Alternative work will be given to pupils who are withdrawn from sex education. We encourage curiosity in children as it is an important part of their learning and we recognise that pupils who have been withdrawn from these lessons may ask questions outside of the lesson time related to sex education. We feel it is important to answer questions honestly, with factual information and in an age appropriate way. If we have a concern with regards to safeguarding due to the nature of a question we would follow our safeguarding procedures. We need to be mindful that young people who don't have their questions answered may look to other sources for information, such as other children or the internet, which might provide inaccurate information.

9. Principles for the Safe and Effective Delivery of PSHE

9.1 Creating a Safe and Supportive Learning Environment

PSHE often works within pupils' real life experiences, addressing a wide range of personal, social, emotional and health issues. A safe, supportive, and respectful learning environment is created by establishing clear ground rules, developed and agreed with all pupils in each learning group across the school. These ground rules are referred to during PSHE lessons. This helps secure an atmosphere within which pupils feel able to discuss ideas, share feelings, raise concerns, and explore sensitive or challenging issues.

9.2 Safeguarding and Confidentiality

Discussions about a wide range of PSHE issues, including sensitive areas, may lead to personal disclosures and increased safeguarding reports, for example pupils may indicate in some way that they are vulnerable or at risk. In these circumstances staff are aware that they must refer to the school's Safeguarding/Child Protection policy and procedures, in line with the current DfE guidance 'Keeping Children Safe in Education' 2025 to ensure that they are clear about what is required in such circumstances. Staff will work within the school's agreed procedure for recording and reporting disclosures and the nature of access to this information.

The school will ensure that staff understand that they cannot offer unconditional confidentiality to pupils, and that the pupils themselves know that teachers cannot offer them unconditional confidentiality, whilst always being reassured that their best interests will be maintained. The pupils will be reminded that if confidentiality has to be broken, they will be informed first and then supported as appropriate. They are encouraged to talk to their parents/carers and other trusted adults and are provided with support to do so.

9.3 A Skilled PSHE Delivery Team

To maintain the high quality, effective delivery of our programme, we provide a range of Continuing Professional Development (CPD)s opportunities for our staff to develop the high level of knowledge, skills and confidence needed to teach PSHE effectively, particularly the more complex, sensitive and challenging areas. This is achieved through a range of CPD activities, including drop in CPD sessions, online courses and networking events. We ensure to draw on the expertise and specialism of relevant local and national organisations where possible to support our training and development programmes.

9.4 Participatory and Interactive Learning Approaches

Active, interactive and participative learning approaches are particularly effective for engaging pupils with the wide range of personal, social, emotional and health related issues in PSHE, particularly when addressing the more sensitive and complex content. Our skilled staff, along with our external partners, use a wide range of teaching and learning activities, within the boundaries of the agreed ground rules, to effectively engage pupils including, for example through structured or open discussion, games, role-play, group debates, use of technology for mock interviews, blogs or vlogs, online games, alongside pupil presentations, the use of literature and visits by theatre groups.

9.5 Choosing Resources

Resources used in PSHE, including those used by our external partners, are regularly reviewed to ensure that they are up to date, relevant, age and stage appropriate, inclusive, unbiased, and accessible for all students. We take into account how the language, cultural attitudes and images within our resources are inclusive and unbiased, avoiding any form of discrimination, misinformation, or promotion of harmful content in any way.

9.6 External Organisations and Partners

We work with a range of various external organisations to enhance the delivery of PSHE across our planned programme, in order to bring in specialist knowledge and different ways of engaging our young people. Our partnership approach ensures that the activities and resources used by external organisations are delivered in accordance with the aims of this policy and the content of our planned programme. All external contributions complement the teaching delivered by our own staff, to enhance and enrich the overall experience of our pupils.

All external contributors are made aware of our confidentiality and safeguarding policies to ensure any safeguarding issues that arise are dealt with in line with school policy and procedure.

9.7 Responding to all Pupils' Questions

We will ensure to respond to all pupils' questions in the most appropriate manner, with an emphasis on supporting the child. The form in which questions are addressed may be in smaller group activities, or on a one-to-one basis, as appropriate. We recognise that if children's questions go unanswered, particularly in relation to content not covered in our curriculum or from those pupils who have been withdrawn they are likely to turn to other sources of support which may be unreliable, so no question will be disregarded. We will encourage children to talk to their own parents/carers or a trusted adult, or signpost them to organisations, for further information/support.

9.8 Meeting the Needs of SEND Learners

PSHE lessons need to be accessible to all pupils including those with special educational needs and disabilities. The SEND code of practice outlines the need for schools to prepare children for adulthood outcomes. These pupils can be more vulnerable to exploitation and bullying which means that sensitive and age-appropriate Relationships and Health Education is an essential part of their learning. We will ensure that our curriculum is accessible to all pupils by adapting content and pace of learning where needed, using varying appropriate resources, adapting small group work, providing 1:1 support, and delivering relevant CPD for all staff.

10. Equality, Diversity and Inclusion

As an inclusive school we value the difference and diversity of our community and the wider world. Within our PSHE programme we teach and promote equality, tolerance, respect and the prevention of discrimination, in line with the Equality Act 2010 and the Equalities Act and Schools Guidance 2010.

Within this duty to foster an understanding of equality and respect, we ensure that all pupils grasp the concept of protected characteristics as directed under British law, in an age appropriate way, and to avoid discrimination based on any of these characteristics, including age, disability, gender reassignment, marriage and civil partnership, pregnancy and maternity, race, religion or belief, sex and sexual orientation. We also promote British values within our whole school aims and values. The personal beliefs and attitudes of teachers will not influence the teaching of any elements of PSHE.

We recognise and value our diverse community at school, valuing all our young people, parents/carers, staff and visitors who may be, for example, from varying backgrounds, faiths, heritages, who are LGBTQ+, who are in different types of families such as single parents/carers or those who are married or in civil partnerships, children living in care, or young carers, or those living in poverty. In exploring and developing a wide range of issues related to acceptance, tolerance, and the avoidance of discrimination, our young people can live respectfully with all members of the community, in preparation for their lives in a globally connected world.

11. Impact: Monitoring, Evaluating and Assessing PSHE

The PSHE Lead will be responsible for ensuring the quality and effectiveness of the teaching and learning in PSHE and measuring the progress and outcomes of pupils within PSHE as follows:

- ensuring the policy and programmes are implemented as agreed
- monitoring and evaluating the teaching of PSHE through lesson observations, learning walks, planning scrutiny, pupil work scrutiny, book looks, pupil focus groups, PSHE subject reviews.
- ensuring assessment is built into the PSHE teaching and learning programme in all year groups, including baseline and endline assessments, and ongoing formative assessment, to measure pupil progress, in line with the school's assessment procedures
- the use of annual surveys and consultation processes to gather the views of pupils, staff and parents/carers and inform the continuing development of our PSHE programme

12. Disseminating and Reviewing the PSHE Policy

A copy of this policy will be supplied to all staff and governors. A full copy will be published on the school website and made freely available to parents/carers and partners on request.

The policy will be reviewed every two years by the governors, senior leadership team and PSHE lead, informed by feedback gathered from pupils, parents/carers and partners.
